Report on Anti-Ragging Week 2025

As per the guidelines of the National Medical Commission (NMC), Anti-Ragging Week 2025 was observed at Amala Institute of Medical Sciences, Thrissur, from 12th to 18th August 2025. The week was marked by a variety of programs and activities aimed at reinforcing the institution's strong stand against ragging and promoting a safe and supportive learning environment for students.

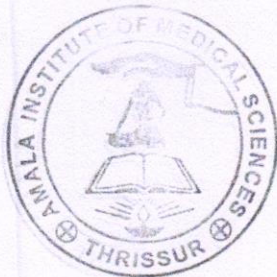

On 12th August, a meeting on Anti-Ragging was conducted in line with the directives of the NMC. The Vice Principals and members of the Anti-Ragging Committee attended the meeting, which focused on reviewing preventive strategies, strengthening monitoring systems, and ensuring the effective implementation of anti-ragging policies.

The observance began on 12th August with a student rally, during which students carried placards and banners displaying slogans and messages against ragging. This initiative created visibility across the campus and reminded everyone of the importance of maintaining a culture of respect and harmony.

As part of the week's programs, students also took the Anti-Ragging Pledge, affirming their commitment to upholding a ragging-free campus. A Peace March was organized, which further spread the message of unity, friendship, and mutual respect among students. In addition to these activities, creative competitions such as slogan writing and poster making were conducted, providing students with an opportunity to express their views on the issue of ragging through impactful slogans and thought-provoking posters.

The observance of Anti-Ragging Week 2025 at Amala Institute of Medical Sciences was a meaningful and impactful initiative. It successfully created awareness among students, strengthened the institution's resolve against ragging, and highlighted its commitment to ensuring a safe, inclusive, and student-friendly campus.
